SOUTHERN STATES HIT BY SEVERE EARTH TREMOR

Expenses May Be $12,000,000 Survey Shows

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—(U.P.)—The largest expenditures ever recorded in a presidential campaign were listed tonight with the clerk of the house of representatives in reports from the republican and democratic national committees showing a total of nearly nine million dollars has been spent in the Hoover-Smith campaign.

This greatly exceeds estimates of campaign managers before the campaign was well under way and indications are that the figure may climb to within $12,000,000 when final reports of state and local committees, the association against the prohibition amendment, the anti saloon league, and other independent organizations participating in the campaign, are made.

State and local committees and state committees of independent campaign organizations do not report here, but to state officials and the total expended in this presidential campaign may reach several millions more.

The republican national committee campaign chest had reached almost $5,000,000 on Nov. 1. Contributions totaled $4,911,744, of which $137,383 remains. J. R. Nutt, republican national committee treasurer reported.

The democratic committee reported contributions of approximately $3,000,000 and an additional $1,000,000 was borrowed to finance the campaign. A balance of this fund of $92,094 was reported.

Hoover In Promise Of Early Farm Aid

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2.—(U.P.)—Herbert Hoover left here tonight at 10:30 to resume his journey across the country to his Palo Alto home after his speech in the coliseum.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 2.—(U.P.)—Herbert Hoover, concluding his campaign tonight held out the prospect of a "determination" of the farm relief problem before the next harvest.

Declaring he hoped the short congress session in December would reach a solution of the (Continued on Page 5)

Abandonment Asked For Vallejo Ferry

CROCKETT, Nov. 2.—Preliminary hearing of the application of the Southern Pacific company to discontinue its Vallejo Junction-South Vallejo ferry and substitute a bus service between Crockett and Vallejo will in all probability be heard before the state railroad commission Nov. 7, in the belief of Southern Pacific officials who attended a luncheon here in the Hotel Crockett.

Additional hearings will be held by the commission in various cities affected by the discontinuing of the ferry and train service and the substitution of the bus service. A hearing in Vallejo is expected Nov. 8 or 9 and an additional hearing may be held in St. Helena.

Under the present plan, in addition to the discontinuing of the present ferry service, certain passenger trains to Napa, Calistoga, Petaluma, Santa Rosa and Suisun via Cordelia would be taken off and replaced with buses. It is planned to operate a service of 10 buses per day each way between Crockett and Vallejo.

Pittsburg To Build New $125,000 Hotel

PITTSBURG, Nov. 1.—Costing approximately $125,000 a new hotel will be constructed at the corner of East Fourth and Black Diamond streets by Steve Caruso. Plans and specifications for the structure are being prepared and construction is expected to start immediately after the first of the year.

The building will have a frontage of 140 feet on East Fourth street and 100 feet on Black Diamond street. On the first floor will be nine stores and the hotel will provide 105 rooms. Van A. Schuler, former manager of the St. James hotel in San Jose, has leased the structure.

Shack Destruction Ends In Suit Here

Suit for $250.00 was brought before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Alstrom yesterday by John Martin of Richmond who charged Louis Diaz with disposing of property belonging to Martin.

Diaz, according to testimony, purchased property on Macdonald avenue near Second street. On the property was a shack. Diaz, according to his testimony, made every effort to learn the owner of the shack and failing to find the building down, using some of the lumber for his personal use.

There remained bar fixtures, an ice box and a mirror, which the court ordered turned over to Martin. Judgment for the amount sued for was denied.

LARGE AREA SHAKEN BY QUAKE

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 2.—(U.P.)—Early tremors of short duration struck the central lower Appalachian range shortly after 11 p. m. tonight.

A triangular area approximately 150 miles on the base with an altitude of about 100 miles was affected.

No material damage was reported but window panes were broken in Johnson City, Tenn., Bryson City, N. C., and here, which appeared in the center of the disturbance.

The tremors lasted approximately 30 seconds.

Points as far west as Chattanooga, Knoxville and Morristown, Tenn., east as far as Winston-Salem, N. C., and north near Richmond Va., reported slight shocks.

The walls of a 13 story office building were cracked slightly and the floor buckled. Bookcases were thrown to the floor.

Theater patrons rushed to the streets as the tremors shook the buildings.

No serious damage or injuries were reported here.

Dry Strangely Shot In Court

STRANGER than the most lurid underworld tale was the mysterious shooting of U. S. Prohibition agent Thomas Ryan as he stood in a Chicago courtroom.

SMITH HITS G.O.P. STAND

By PAUL R. MALLON
United Press Staff Correspondent
BROOKLYN, N. Y., Nov. 2.—(U.P.)—The republican campaign theories concerning water power, farm relief, prohibition and finance were subjected to a blunt attack by Gov. Alfred E. Smith in his speech here tonight on state issues.

The democratic presidential candidate took the ground that the republican party of New York state and of the nation has the same fundamental ideas about things and he proceeded to rip into the position it has assumed (Continued on Page 4)

COAST SHIP RUNS AGROUND

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 3.—(U.P.)—The Steamship Michigan, owned by the Columbia Pacific Steamship company of Portland, Ore., was aground today in the narrow tidal channel between the Island of Samar and Leyte, which are in the center of the Philippine group.

The Steamship Golden Peak was standing by and the Destroyer Ford was preparing to leave here with pumps to aid the grounded vessel. The Michigan went ashore Friday, but reason for the accident was still lacking here.

CUP FETE TO BE HELD NOV. 14

Richmond's celebration in honor of its record in reducing its fire loss will be held Nov. 14 to fit in with plans of Gov. C. C. Young and enable the chief executive to attend and make the principal address at the Chamber of Commerce.

The governor agreed to attend the celebration and to assist in the ceremony at the Hotel Carondelet at which Fire Chief W. P. Cooper is to be formally presented with two cups—one for Richmond's record of fire reduction among Pacific Coast cities, the other for its record in a contest with 50 cities in all parts of the world in which Richmond scored the highest percentage of fire loss reduction.

Lewis B. Mayer, motion picture magnate, donor of the international cup, which was originally presented to Cooper at the recent Philadelphia convention, will be present to hand the cup to the local fire chief.

Governor Young will discuss the movement for reduction of fire losses under way in all California cities and will dwell on the record made by Richmond.

A sketch of what has been accomplished here and elsewhere along this line will be given in a talk by Jay Stevens, state fire marshal.

The celebration will open with a parade on Macdonald avenue at 11 o'clock made up of fire apparatus from Richmond and other cities, and with decorated automobiles carrying the notables. Among the latter will be mayors and other public officials of all nearby cities.

The parade will end at the Hotel Carondelet where the luncheon meeting and the award of the cups will be held.

Boy Killer, 13, In Confession

TALKED TOO MUCH, in what friends recall, 13 (above) said when he confessed to the killing of Adam Goodvitch, 13. The body was found in rear of a church in Nashua, N. H.

Faces Term Of Life If Found Sane By Jury

MARTINEZ, Nov. 2.—Miguel Perea, 25, Crockett refinery worker, was this afternoon found guilty of second degree murder by a jury in the court of Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie.

In view of Perea's plea of "not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity" the same jury will now have to pass upon the defendant's sanity. In the event that the jury finds him sane, he faces a life sentence. The jury deliberated only one hour and one half.

Perea was accused of shooting Robert Perea, 26, as the latter entered a Crockett rooming house three weeks ago. Perea died 24 hours later in the Martinez hospital.

Mrs. Virginia G. Delgadillo and her son, Henry, 11, testified they saw the man running from the scene of the shooting with a revolver in his hand. Juana G. Cardinas from the stand named Perea as the man who shot Perea's son. Joe Martinez, interpreter, told the jury that Perea identified Perea as his assailant when the refinery worker was taken before him in the county hospital.

The defense elicited from Martinez the statement that Perea, identifying Perea in the hospital, said that Mrs. Delgadillo was his wife. Perea was the assailant.

The prosecution was handled by Deputy District Attorney James F. Hoey and the defendant was represented by Hugh Donovan and M. B. Vedio.

Mrs. Chandler On Pardee Dam Visit

"The more I saw of this tremendous project, the more firmly I was convinced that we need H. A. Johnston on the board of directors for the East Bay municipal utilities district." This was the statement made last night by Mayor Mattie Chandler upon her return from a visit to the Pardee dam.

Santa Rosa Slayer Of Three Ends Life

SANTA ROSA, Nov. 2.—(U.P.)—The third murderer in the San Francisco bay region within the past 100 days ended his own life today just as his two predecessors, after he had increased the number of victims to 16.

Charles Braker, 47, committed suicide after killing D. J. Bertola, 75, Bertola's wife, Maria, 70, and their daughter, Camilla, 27, police said.

After he had murdered the three members of the Bertola family, Braker sat fire to their house before firing the bullet through his own head. Bertola mentioned to crawl to the back porch but the other three were burned almost beyond recognition.

City Teachers Hear State School Head

William John Cooper state superintendent of public instruction who was a visitor in Richmond yesterday speaking before the Rotary club, addressed the teachers of Richmond schools yesterday afternoon in Lincoln school auditorium.

Cooper reviewed matters in the education department of the state as they now stand and legislative matters needed for progress. He told of legislation needed for the teachers' retirement law in place it on a sound basis, giving better remuneration to retiring teachers. He also explained the meaning of the teachers' tenure law.

Before coming to Richmond, Cooper delivered an address in Ventura Thursday at an institute held there.

Walter T. Helms, superintendent of city schools, presided over the meeting and introduced the speaker.

Sanity Test Follows Accusations Of Wife

Emil Halter, arrested Wednesday night, charged by his wife with disturbing the peace, has been taken to the county hospital in Martinez where he is being held for observation as to his sanity. The complaint was sworn to before Justice of the Peace A. A. Alstrom of Richmond. The sanity commission will probably hear the case Tuesday morning.

Several weeks ago Halter attempted suicide when his wife, Mrs. Margaret Halter, who is suing him for divorce, refused to return to him, according to police. More recently he is alleged to have threatened his wife and is said to have hallucinations that she was not caring for their minor children records show.

Record-Herald Recommendations

1. Yes Approves apportionment of legislature on plan of United States Congress. Prevents San Francisco and Los Angeles from controlling the state.
2. No Provides for $1,000,000 in bonds for an Olympia in Los Angeles in 1922. It is another measure to increase our present heavy tax burden.
3. Yes This adds a section to the constitution to save $22,000,000 in the State in bank taxes. If it does not carry the general taxpayer must make it up.
4. No Another tax measure of $5,000,000 for state parks, which must be duplicated by either individuals or cities and counties. Vote to prevent more taxes.
5. Yes Abolishes 12 round contests and goes back to four round bouts. The present arrangement has been a failure and has brought about much adverse comment.
6. No A vicious political measure that will take out of the hands of the people the control of the schools of the state and place them in the hands of appointive state officials.
7. Yes Provides that it shall be a state policy that riparian rights shall not extend to waste of water or unreasonable use. It is an important measure.
8. Yes Changes motor vehicle law so as to make trucks pay higher fees on the ground they do more damage to highways than the use of private cars. It is endorsed by the governor.
9. Yes Cities and counties now have the right to acquire property under the law of eminent domain. This amendment also gives the same rights to the state.
10. Yes Permits purchase by state, county or city of remaining "slivers" of property between or alongside of lands in laying out parks.
11. Yes Empowers legislature to relieve congestion in courts. It was proposed by the judiciary council and has the approval of the state bar.
12. Yes This measure is sponsored by the California Society for Crippled Children. Authorizes state to aid physically handicapped persons.
13. No Cities can get water by condemnation proceedings, and there is no necessity of giving them right to hold stock in mutual companies. No good can come of it.
14. Yes Under this measure utility companies will be able to extend their corporate life without the expensive trouble of reorganization. There seems to be no opposition to it.
15. No This amendment would give legislature power to raise fees. It would tend to build up another tax eating crowd in the shape of professional jurors.
16. No If adopted the liability of stockholders in corporations would be eliminated. No harm can result by permitting the law to exist as at present.
17. No Provides $10,000,000 bonds for highway grade separations. Another tax increase measure. The gas tax raises sufficient money for all purposes of highway construction.
18. Yes This relates to absentee voting and extends the privilege to those engaged in the civil or congressional service of the U. S. or of the state.
19. No This constitutional amendment authorizes the state to aid needy blind persons. It is covered by amendment No. 12, and would be needless legislation.
20. Yes Provides that on consent of both parties juries may be waived in criminal cases and the defendant tried by the court. This will expedite court business.
21. Yes This is known as the anti-rodco amendment. It will do away with the brutal features in connection with rodeos and wild west shows. It is a humane measure.

HAUGEN AND McNARY BOTH OUT FOR HERBERT HOOVER

It is regarded as significant by the Republican national committee. It says in statement issued today that both of the joint authors of the McNary-Haugen bill about which there has been much controversy, are advocating the election of Herbert Hoover as the best method of relief for the agricultural situation.

Congressman Gilbert N. Haugen of Iowa, and Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, sponsored the farm bill which bears their name and fought for its passage through the respective houses of the congress.

In a letter explaining why he prefers to back Mr. Hoover, Congressman Haugen says:

"Why worry over the equalization fee? It is not a political issue. If another method believed better or equally good is devised, it will of course, be given consideration when the matter comes up for solution."

"I do not question Mr. Hoover's motives. To the contrary. I of course, admire and respect him for his frank expression of his honest convictions, and give him due credit for his many achievements, long experience, great ability and high type of character founded upon integrity."

AN ADMIRAL'S IDEA

Admiral Schofield, blunt sea dog, expresses a sensible view of these treaties to outlaw and banish war. He hopes that there will never be another war. But he also calls attention to the fact that if there should be, a good navy would come in mighty handy for Uncle Samuel. And he points out that the cost of converting our present sea forces into one fit to fend off any foe would not exceed $2 per citizen per annum. That is a low price for life and property insurance.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

"The right to water or to the use, or flow of water in or from any natural stream or water course in this State is and shall be limited to such water as shall be reasonably required for the beneficial use to be served, and such right does not and shall not extend to the waste or unreasonable use or unreasonable method of use or unreasonable method of diversion of water."

Doctors say that there are dangerous drugs in many medicines sold to the ladies for "reducing purposes." So you see there are some things which are worse than a corn-fed appearance in fact a great many things.

"The Sidewalks of New York" has been repopularized for the campaign. But what has become of its great companion songs, "Yes, we Have no Bananas?"

The republicans who will vote for Smith and the democrat who will vote for Hoover share for a few moments a place in the spotlight.—Boston Transcript.

They've cut off the sleeves of the dress, taken out the neck and chopped the skirt off about the middle, so what's left of it doesn't really seem worth the fuss that's made over it.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Kellogg treaty may get the war out of Europe but what are we to do to get the gang war out of the movies?

Remember the good old campaign days when the rougher it got the better the boys liked it?

Company Abandons New Restaurant

PARIS, Nov. 1 (U.P.)—The "flying restaurant" has been discontinued by the company which organized the first service on the Paris London route, and henceforth air tourists will have to be satisfied with lunch baskets obtained before leaving the aeroplane or an occasional sandwich served cautiously enroute.

Experts studying the restaurant system discovered extreme vibration due to the movements of the passengers during their luncheon.

BEAUTY

You can't expect your nails to look well unless you carefully remove every last vestige of the old polish before applying a new coat. I am speaking, of course, of liquid polish which I have found on the whole more satisfactory than the paste or powder used alone.

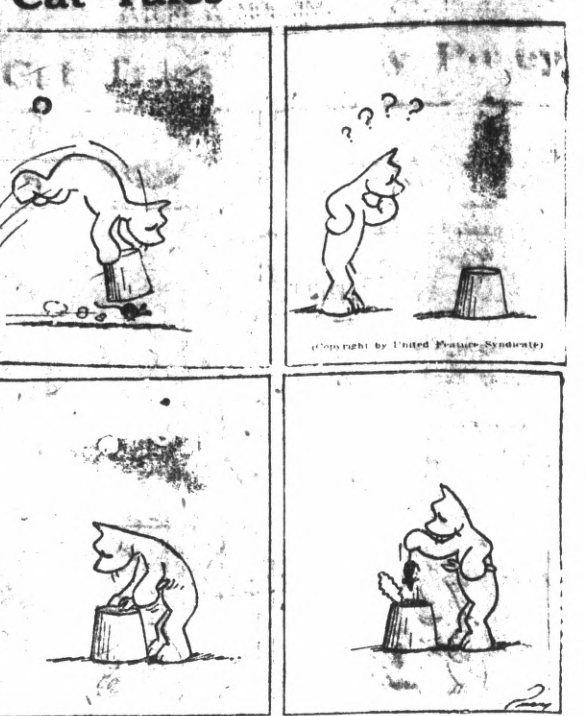

Wipe off the nails with the polish remover sold for this purpose and then wash the hands in warm water and soap, and before putting the new coat of polish on. The best results can be obtained by using a natural color polish (anything but that frightful red paint), and applying it on the pink part of the nails, leaving the moon and white tip as they are. This makes the polish look more natural, and not coming to the edge of the nail, it is less likely to catch and peel.

Many clever women have discovered that they can achieve the most satisfactory results by first polishing the nails with a powder (or paste) and buffer and then coating them with the liquid.

"I'll tell the world"

In spite of all your enthusiasm over a new salad oil or shoe or radio battery, you cannot possibly pass on the good news to more than a few people. You can't really "tell the world."

The manufacturer himself is in the same fix. He can't tell the world. His salesmen can't. His dealers can't. And the world ought to be told. It wants to know. It wants to know what's new, what's not only good, but better than the best; or cheaper; or more durable; or more useful; or just plain more fun.

Advertising "tells the world" today. Back of every advertisement is somebody, perhaps a whole group of somebodies, full of enthusiasm just as you are when you discover something that makes things easier or better for you. They are telling just as many people as they can reach in the world in person. But that is only a tiny fraction of those they speak to in advertising.

Advertisements are truly personal things to the people who write them. And they can be exceeding personal for you, too, for they mean better food, better clothing, increased health, a happier home, greater prosperity.

Read the advertisements—they tell you what you want to know

'ME GANGSTER' FILM WINS AUDIENCE

With about the same frequency that leap year rolls around a picture comes to the screen which flagrantly defies the conventions and still furnishes mighty good entertainment.

Such a picture came to the California theatre yesterday for its initial showing locally, and it more than satisfied the appetites of movie lovers.

It is a Fox film, "Me Gangster," an adaptation of Charles Francis Coe's widely-read story of the same title.

The man who directed "What Price Glory," Stuart Walker, made "Me Gangster," and he turned out a fine piece of directorial celluloid.

Primarily "Me Gangster" is the story of just an average boy who lacks parental influence or protection and who has a lot of idle time on his hands with the inevitable result. He gets into trouble through his associations, escapes the law by narrow margins and finally is caught and becomes firmly convinced that you can't be a criminal and win.

Don Terry, former Harvard athlete and recent discovery of Warner, plays the leading role and adjusts himself with surprising credit in spite of the fact that it is his very first appearance on any screen. June Collyer, always pretty and charming, reveals hitherto undiscovered dramatic talent as the girl in the case and one of the best balanced girls to show in a picture in many moons is seen with such brilliancy as Anders Randolph, Stella Adams, Burr McIntosh, Walter James, Arthur Stone, Nigel De Bruiler, Carol Lombard, Joe Brown, Bob Perry and Harry Cattie.

Starting with water power he said the republican party believes in alienation of these resources for private profit and private gain.

"While I have succeeded in staying the hands of the power trust," he added, "I have been unsuccessful in bringing about development under the democratic theory because of the stubborn opposition of republican leaders."

The candidate told how H. Edmund Machoff, chairman of the republican state committee was head of the Northeastern power company before he obtained his political post. He charged that efforts were made to lease the St. Lawrence river to a subsidiary of the Aluminum Company of America but that he stopped it. He told how the Erie canal waters at Lockport had been leased 100 years ago to a private company for $200 a year and said his administration succeeded in killing the contract in 1926 when it was worth $76,000 a year.

$50,000 ASKED IN DEATH OF J.E. LANE

MARTINEZ, Nov. 2.—Suit for damages, amounting to $50,000 was filed in Martinez today against the Santa Fe railroad company and four employees by Mrs. Kathryn Lane, widow and Miss Dorothy Lane, daughter of J. E. Lane, Standard Oil worker.

Lane was killed Oct. 11, when he truck on which he was riding was struck by a Santa Fe train at a crossing in the Standard Oil plant here. The suit alleges that the engine was not equipped with proper brakes, that no warning signal was given when the engine approached Mill street crossing, where the accident occurred and that there was no flagman at the crossing.

Santa Fe employees named in the suit are W. H. Rickard, engineer; A. S. Holmes, switchman and C. W. Nielson, fireman.

Mrs. Lane and her daughter are being represented by the law firm of Ford, Johnson and Baurquin of Oakland.

OAKLAND, Nov. 2.—An estate valued at $11,000 was left by E. B. Hussey, who was killed when his machine plunged over an embankment near Selby last week, according to his will filed here yesterday in the Alameda county superior court. The entire amount was left to his widow, Mrs. Grace Hussey, 1733 Milvia street, Berkeley, and his three sons, Henry, Charles and Edward Hussey are named jointly as executors.

The will was dated Feb. 4, 1926 and states that it was made at that time because Hussey was "about to make an ocean voyage with all its hazards." But it was a land voyage that proved fatal.

WOMAN FREED AFTER RUM RAIDS

MARTINEZ, Nov. 2.—Mrs. Ramona Conga, 42, is free today on a charge of maintaining a public nuisance after Clyde Laird, chief of the county moral squad informed Judge Frank Glass that the charges were really against some of Mrs. Conga's boarders, who, he claimed, had possessed liquor.

Mrs. Conga was arrested during a raid on 15 Crockett, establishments by county dry officers recently. She was unable to pay a $100 fine and was given a jail sentence. This sentence was revoked after the testimony of Laird. Later her 16-year old daughter, Mary Conga, appeared before the court and pleaded that her mother be released and that she might be sent to jail to serve her mother's sentence.

In making a plea for her mother's release, the girl explained that her mother had kept 27 roomers and boarders until their work failed and the men left. She pointed out that the mother is a bread winner for four children and the father is suffering from heart trouble.

Chapter II QUEEN OF HIS KIND

Through babyhood and childhood the foster-child of Toka grew. And though he was the little friend of all the jungle world, yet the jungle knew he was different. Gradually as he grew to manhood in the life of the jungle, clearing the rudiments of his own language from picture books left in the effects of his parents in the cabin, he to the wonderful carved hunting knife of the dead sportsman, his father, gradually the jungle people came to realize that he was their king in brain and cunning, accepted the overlordship of Tarzan, the Mighty, foster-child of Toka, the she-ape.

It was not often now that his power was questioned, except by Numa, who seemed to retain a hereditary enmity. That was why as Tarzan faced Taug, protecting Teeka, Tarzan laughed.

"Taug has chosen and there is none in the jungle to stay him!"

Quickly Tarzan's laughter changed to rage. Here was a defiance of his mandate to rule that he could not afford to pass.

Tarzan hit Taug a staggering blow. A moment and Taug was back at him. Again Tarzan hit him. Taug crumpled. In an instant Tarzan was over him, his Greystoke hunting knife unsheathed. He felt his arm stayed. It was Teeka, pleading for Taug. Slowly he returned the knife to its sheath, rose from the prostrate Taug and turned away. Again, as so often since he had reached the estate of manhood, swept over him the realization that neither the ape people nor the other beasts were his real kin.

Morose and moody Tarzan proceeded through the jungle. Now more than ever before he felt alone—all alone. These friends of the jungle were not his own people. Mechanically his course took him to the hut. Except for the ravages of time and the weather it was the same but he remembered from earliest childhood. Something was vaguely stirring within him now as he entered. He picked up a child's picture book, glanced through it. It did not satisfy. On the table was a Bible, very worn and old. He opened it. There was a picture of a woman. He gazed at it long and earnestly. It stirred some recollections within him, indefinite, formless. Then, too, there was the picture of a man.

These were his people. For a long time he turned it over in his mind. Dead! Yes, without a doubt. But were there no others?

He closed the book, put it back on the table. Somehow now he was more alone than ever he had been before. He felt he must get back into the jungle. At least there were his friends, Tantor, and the apes.

Suddenly Tarzan paused. What was that strange new sound in the jungle? It was a voice—but the voice of no animal he knew and he knew them all.

There was something silvery, bell-like, about this voice. Nor was it mere repetition, like the calls of animals. It was always the same, but it was always different. He stood a moment spellbound. He felt as if something were tugging at his heart. That voice! Why did it arouse such feelings within him? Other unfamiliar sounds aroused fear, wariness. But this, this seemed to fascinate, to lead him.

It came from close at hand, down the glen, down by the drinking pool. He took a step, then checked himself warily. Instead he swung himself upward by his grass rope into the tallest of the trees. From the top he could look over the edge, down to the pool.

Tarzan gripped the branch of the trees just in time to catch himself. Such a sight his eyes had never before looked upon. Never even in his wildest dreams had he ever conceived anything so lovely, anything even remotely like it.

Standing stark, unclad, her lithe body poised just an instant on the edge of the pool that reflected back her gleaming, white beauty stood Mary. Her dance completed she had fled from the stockade, thrown off her crude garment, prepared to plunge into the cooling waters as it were to wash from her the contamination of contact with Black John and his crew.

In the exuberance of her freedom she was trilling to herself some silvery ditty that recalled the civilization from which disaster had so rudely snatched her. It was this song of a human feminine voice that was new and sweet to the ear of Tarzan.

An instant and she slithered into the depths of the water of the pool striking out with a graceful crawl that left Tarzan speechless in admiration.

Suddenly his sharp eyes from his lofty perch caught a sight as from an airplane an observer might see a murderous submarine headed toward a graceful liner. Other eyes than Tarzan's had seen the sight. A huge crocodile was shooting straight from a dark eddy, scenting a dainty morsel.

Tarzan uttered a cry, the cry with which he struck terror into the denizens of the jungle. Mary heard it, looked in time, saw the ferocious crocodile shooting, with sea-plant speed at her, turned and headed for the shore.

At the same instant Tarzan leaped through the air a high dive, such as would have turned green with envy any stunt circus performer. Down—down—down he shot like a human projectile.

plunged, turned upward, and grappled with the prince of the crocodiles just as the moment when those murderous jaws were within inches of snapping this queen of Tarzan's own kind, first he had ever seen in his marvelous winning of the jungle.

Over and over the man and the infuriated crocodile rolled in the water as Tarzan vainly struggled to grasp his knife from its sheath at some moment when the animal at home in his own element might be off guard. For Tarzan being off-guard, for an instant might mean the loss of all of his own superbly developed limbs, perhaps of his life.

Mary, headed for safety and shore, looked back just in time to see a dozen or more of the crocodile tribe thrashing after her so closely that she scarcely an even break whether she could reach the shore first—and even then must she depend on a miraculous toughness of the slender tropical tangle of vines to pull herself well clear of those voracious, cruel jaws. She was in the tangle and it parted in her hands as she screamed in frantic terror at the snapping jaws only a few inches behind her.

Chapter III

BLACK JOHN PLOTS

Frantically, desperately, Mary clung at the tangle of vines again. This time it gave a little, but it held and she pulled herself safely up the bank just missing the ravenous jaws of the foremost of the crocodiles by inches.

Still a-tremble like an aspen leaf in the wind she ran through the brush and with shaking fingers donned her scant garment of leopard skin, fastening it as she peered through the tangle at the handsome and heroic figure of a man as he struggled, waited his chance, then overcame the infuriated leader of the crocodiles, flung him back and with powerful strokes made the edge of the pool and drew the powerful form glistening with the water up to safety also.

He stood looking about for her, caught a glimpse of her as she drew back in the shadows. She started to run in sudden fright as he advanced toward her. She stopped, raised his hand and called.

"Fear not! Tarzan will not harm you!"

Mary hesitated. There was something at once commanding and reassuring in the tone. A smile, half-frightened, flitted over her face. She was tempted to wait, then her fears overwhelmed her. She waved her hand at him—and ran on toward the stockade.

Tarzan checked himself. A long time he gazed after her with a wondering, entranced expression on his face, then turned back again to his jungle—but not the same Tarzan he had been a scant half hour ago. A new purpose had come into his life.

Mary too, at the entrance to the stockade paused to look back. A smile at the memory of Tarzan. Perhaps she should have stayed. But then there was Bobbie. She turned.

Black John was glaring at her suspiciously.

"You've been outside the stockade again! Haven't I warned you enough of this Tarzan beast that's roaming around?"

Mary had a sudden start at the unexpected mention of Tarzan. But she could not check the peculiar smile on her lips nor the shining of her defiant shoulders even to her non-committal answer.

H.A. JOHNSTON IN FINAL DRIVE

Berkeley is expected to go for Johnston without question, it was said.

Oakland Aid
In Oakland, according to Morcom's outline, the situation is well in hand with Johnston's message being broadcast among all classes in many organizations in various parts of the city.

Morcom Issued a Statement urging voters to bear in mind that locally the election for directors of the Utility District is highly important and should not be overlooked in the minds of the voters by the presidential election and the 21 proposals on the state ballot.

Election Important
"Interest centers largely at this time in the election of a president of the United States," said Morcom. "This is highly important, but it is also important that we select the right men to handle our water program. Running on the same ballot next Tuesday will be three candidates for director of the Utility District for whom all forward looking people should vote. These are Grant D. Miller and Al Latham, incumbents, who are running for reelection without opposition and who have been directors of the district since its formation in 1923, and Henry A. Johnston of Richmond who is now before the public for the first time. Johnston is running against James H. Boyer, the incumbent and Johnston's election is urged by thoughtful people in all the nine Eastbay cities who believe that he is the man to work properly with the other four members of the board in handling the important future problems confronting the district."

Many Endorsements
Morcom pointed out that the mayors of most of the cities making up the district have strongly endorsed the candidacy of Johnston and urge his election as being the most constructive thing the people can do next Tuesday.

Soviet Honors Five Workmen
MOSCOW, Nov. 2. (U.P.)—The coveted Soviet title "Hero of Labor"—which means the same as does membership in the Legion of Honor elsewhere—has been awarded by the Z.K. highest legislative body in the Soviet Union, to five simple workmen. For long service and active revolutionary activity, the title was bestowed upon a miner, an electrician, a metal worker, a carpenter and a railroad man.

The title was awarded at the same time to four women school teachers and three scientists.

Water Project Needs Johnston Mayor Asserts

Mayor Chandler was a guest of the utility district which played host to a number of prominent Eastbay women. The party left Oakland Thursday morning and arrived at the dam in the afternoon. They viewed the work being done and saw the plans for the huge project. Thursday night was spent at the lodge in the construction camp, a comfortable place, Mayor Chandler reported. Yesterday morning the party again visited some of the work and watched the 300 workmen help toward providing an adequate water supply for Richmond and the Eastbay district.

The tour was made by motor cars. In the group were Engineer A. P. Davis and his wife; Mrs. H. G. Hill, president of the Woman's City Club of Oakland; Mrs. R. Adkinson, Miss Cavallaro, Mrs. S. G. Law, chairman of the League of Women Voters of California; Mrs. Charles Spears, Mrs. Artola, Miss M. Barnby, president of the Oakland Business and Professional Women's club; Mrs. Caruth, president of the Washington P. T. A. of Oakland, and Mayor Chandler.

Rail Extension For Pittsburg Held Certain

MARTINEZ, Nov. 2.—The state railroad commission today denied the petition of the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroads for a rehearing of the commission's recent decision dismissing the complaint against the application of the Sacramento Short Line for permission to build a mile extension of its road into the industrial area of Pittsburg. As a result of the decision, the Western Pacific railroad gained another victory in its bid for the route of the Pittsburg industrial belt.

The Southern Pacific and Santa Fe protested the extension of the line on the grounds that the district was already adequately served. Industrial interests went on record as favoring the extension. The Western Pacific controls the Short Line through stock ownership of the Sacramento Northern Railway.

HOOVER CLOSES PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN

question, he added:
"However, as I have already said, it is not possible, I would call a special session in order that we might speedily arrive at a determination of the question before the next harvest."

Last Address
Making the last big address of his campaign the Republican candidate spoke in this metropolis at the crossroads to the west and south, taking as his theme "The Constructive Side of Government." He advocated a gigantic inland waterways program as an aid to farmers and western business. Further, he proposed the formation of a federal farm board to aid farmers; spoke for continuance of a simplification of tariff board protection; outlined a series of methods of coping with the farm relief problem; favored "regulation" of public utilities and objected to the "government going into business in competition with its citizens."

Creation of cheaper transportation, reduction of middlemen's profits, stabilization of farm prices and consumer purchasing ability were among his remedies for the farmer.

Discusses Stand
In contrast to his New York State speech on "State Socialism" and on fields into which he claims the government ought not to go, Hoover tonight discussed "matters which the government should and must undertake."

These he listed thus:
"The first of these fields includes the great undertakings in public works such as inland waterways, flood control, reclamation, highways and public buildings."

"The second of these is the necessary interest and activity of the federal government in fostering education, public health, scientific research, public parks, conservation of national resources, agriculture, industry and foreign commerce."

Economic Cooperation
"The third great field lies in broadening the assistance of the government to the growing efforts of our people to cooperation among themselves to useful and economic ends."

He envisaged a closely connected inland waterways system which he designated as the "Mississippi system" comprising 12,000 miles "of most essential transportation, connecting 20 states with the Gulf on one hand and with the North Atlantic on the other."

Transportation

The three trunk lines would be "one north and south, 1,500 miles from New Orleans through St. Louis and Chicago and thence by the lakes to the northern boundaries of our country; another east and west, 1,500 miles from Pittsburgh through St. Louis to Kansas City; and a third, a shipway through the St. Lawrence river connecting Duluth and the lake ports with the sea. Vital to this threefold system, he said, would be improvement of laterals, such as the upper Mississippi connecting Minneapolis and St. Louis; the upper Missouri connecting Sioux City and beyond; as well as the Cumberland Tennessee, Arkansas Red rivers and lesser streams.

He said the $100,000,000 already spent to achieve this dream of a new transportation system has been "money well spent" and he advocated completing the whole project "at the earliest possible moment."

Ambitious Program
This ambitious program, he said, would give the Midwest cheaper raw materials and cheaper access to world markets and by cheapening transportation "increase the price the farmer receives from his products."

Hoover expressed himself as favoring "completion of the earliest moment" of the authorized Mississippi flood control work and continuance on the program of extending modern interstate highways and of constructing needed public buildings.

Turning to agriculture, he said that to accomplish "sound and permanent relief" there must be "complete determination of the causes which bring about the difficulties of each part."

Adequate Tariff
Especially emphasizing an adequate tariff as "essential if we would assure relief to the farm" Hoover declared the moves necessary to finding a solution are embodied in the following:

A tariff "to reserve to the farmer the American market; to safeguard him from the competition of imports of farm products from countries of lower standards of living."

Provide cheaper transportation to market.
Secure to the farmer "a larger proportion of the price which the ultimate consumer pays, through the elimination of a vast number of wastes that lie in our method of distribution."

Secure a greater stability of

BURNED GIRLS LIPS SEALED BY DEATH

LAKE BLUFF, Ill., Nov. 2.—(U.P.)—To those who wander through a psychic world, Elfrida Knaak sacrificed herself on an altar of fire to "purify" a spiritual love—a love she kept secret even from her family and her circle of closest friends.

Elfrida died today and her death sealed the lips that would have disclosed her secret. Her death all but closed the door on the "furnace mystery" in the Lake Bluff village hall, a mystery that may never be solved.

To authorities who have spent more than 2 days of exhaustive investigation, a murder was committed. Someone forced Elfrida through the firebox of the furnace where her head, arms and legs were deeply seared, they insisted.

The mystery of her "horror" to the basement deeper today when, breathing her last, she murmured through her swollen lips: "I didn't do it. I didn't do it."

Her dying words were the first she had uttered since last Tuesday that would indicate someone was with her on the nocturnal visit to the village hall.

She previously had insisted "I did it alone," as proof of "my spiritual love for him."

From Five Hundred to Five Thousand Dollars!

Such is only part of the story of increased values that is being written in the development now taking place on the Richmond waterfront

There is nothing physically spectacular about the dredging and filling operation which you see in progress along the Richmond water front.

And yet literally and figuratively these operations are maturing a crop of dollars for Richmond property owners, Richmond business men and Richmond residents.

Industrial property that is today worth from $500 to $600 per acre will tomorrow, upon the completion of the harbor improvements, leap in value to $5000 and $6000 per acre.

Richmond's harbor is one of Richmond's greatest assets—remember this—the busy dredgers are literally coining the new prosperity that the citizens of Richmond are to enjoy in the immediate future.

KRESS, BETTENCOURT SIGNED BY CLOTHIERS NINE

WARNER'S MEN MEET TEST TODAY

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—(U.P.) Reserve strength, which clearly favors Stanford, was expected to be the deciding factor when the Cards meet University of Southern California here Saturday in a game that may settle the coast conference title race.

In its only real test of the season, against California, U. S. C. used only two substitutes and so left strength to the report that Coach Jones fears to take first team men from the lineup.

Stanford, on the other hand, has gone south with one of its strongest teams in years. It was believed that instead of substituting individual backfield men, Coach Warner would make replacements with full four men units.

The Trojans will use a new offensive, perhaps of reconstructed Stanford plays. Coaches of the Jones and McKee type who depended upon deception in the line, have found themselves severely handicapped by the shift rule.

Secret practices of the past two weeks were believed to have resulted in the adoption of Warner plays with the elimination of Warner's complex handling of the ball, a defense against the feared Stanford formation "B", and perfection of deception in the backfield.

Stanford's chief worry seemed to be Don Williams, the Trojan quarterback, whose work has been outstanding for Troy. However, it was not thought unlikely that the backfield burden would be more evenly divided against Stanford. Both teams were expected to line up with all regulars in at the game.

WET WEATHER MAY HELP OREGON

BY CARLE H. BENNETT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
BERKELEY, Nov. 2.—(U.P.) Football players of the University of Oregon gazed skyward this evening about the time the sun was supposed to be setting over the Golden Gate and chuckled because the weather was exactly to their liking for the game with the University of California here Saturday.

Murky gray clouds were low over the city, making the air chilly and bringing a threat of rain that would be a decided advantage to the northerners.

Odds Fluctuate

There was a slight fluctuation of odds on account of the weather but the Golden Bears remained on the top side for one principal reason the punting of Bennie Lom, California halfback.

The Bears were also believed to have a better machine for running around ends, but if it rains this advantage may dwindle away. Oregon's weakest points were said to be the two ends. Consequently it was thought that California's last backs, Lom, Leland Egan and Stan Hart, might gain fairly consistently around the Webfoot flank on a dry field.

Bennie Lom's toe would be more of an advantage to California on a wet field than a dry one in the opinion of those who have watched his punts sail from 40 to 60 yards during games this year.

California has only practiced on a slippery turf one day this season while the northern team gained the appellation of Webfoot from the weather of its home town.

Andy Smith Game

If the footing is not secure and the pliskin is slippery, the Bears will undoubtedly choose to kick and wait the breaks. Lom's kicks would likely keep the ball from getting too close to the California goal line.

Both teams have a chance to finish in first place of the coast conference.

Oregon is considered by California teams as the strongest in the Pacific Northwest while California has held the strong University of Southern California eleven to a scoreless tie. The Webfooters think they have a good chance to win and the Bears are equally certain of victory.

The Californians have built a defense that has been almost impenetrable for other teams to break. They claim they will present a new and surprising offense tomorrow.

Johnny Kitzmiller, sophomore of Oregon, was expected to lead the northerners' attack as a triple threat man. Short, fast passes from Kitzmiller have troubled opponents of Oregon all season. This young star will be aided by fleet and capable veteran backs such as Williams, Burnett and Robinson.

SKIPPER JONES SIGNS UP STARS

The acquisition of Red Kress, short stop for the St. Louis Browns; Larry Bettencourt, St. Mary's star player and Rabbit Garrity was announced yesterday afternoon by Phil Jones, manager of the Johnson Clothiers.

Kress, a Richmond lad, led the American league in hitting for three months of the past season. He is a regular shortstop for the Browns.

Bettencourt joined the St. Louis Browns May 28, having been signed up by Willis Butler of this city, scout for the Browns. Bettencourt played in 75 games as third baseman and outfielder. He hit .306 for the season, which is a good average for any man's league, according to Jones.

Kress will play short stop for the Clothiers in tomorrow's game against Guarantees Shoes, leaders of the Oakland Mid-winter league. Bettencourt will make his first appearance, two weeks from tomorrow as he is at present, coaching St. Mary's freshman football team which is dated up for the two following Sundays.

Both of these men rank as outstanding players of the American League. They will give Richmond ball fans a chance to see baseball of the highest type.

Rabbit Garrity, second baseman, played the past season with Kelo, Wash.

Jones announced that Tony Krassovich would be the regular third baseman for the balance of the season. Bettencourt will be used in the outfield.

The balance of the lineup for Sunday's game which will be played at the Oakland Coast League park at 11:30 tomorrow morning follows: LaVega, catcher; Jones, Roberts, Kaib, pitchers; Starastine, first base; Garrity, second base; Kress, short stop; Krassovich, third base; Greathouse, Woodson, Biggs, outfield; Gordon, Godlier, utility.

KOSKY GIVEN NOD OVER RYAN

RAY Ravani had the "flu". This undoubtedly was hard luck for Ray and still worse luck for one Buddy Ryan, a Pinole.

Buddy and Ray were slated to meet last night in the ten round main event at El Cerrito. With the illness of Ravani, Cornelious Kosky, a southpaw, was substituted. As a result, Kosky walked away with the fight, being awarded the decision in the tenth. Ryan was unable to land a good blow throughout the fight.

Gilbert Atteil of San Francisco slammed Art Francis to the floor in the third round of their scheduled six round go. Art decided he'd rather have a good rest than fight any more.

Joe Limas, as usual, had his Friday workout. Joe kayaked Johnny Lawson of Oakland in the second round of their scheduled four round bout.

Johnny Gomez and Johnny Ingram who substituted for Joey Roberts fought a good draw in the "B" four round bout and Frank Loveland of Berkeley and Kid Payo of Oakland, two green boys, fought a good four round draw.

San Pablans, Oakland Nine Meet Monday

The General Petroleum nine, the squad which handed the Johnson Clothiers its first defeat of the season, will meet the City of San Pablo hall club at the San Pablo hall orchard tomorrow afternoon.

Just who the San Pablo outfit will use on the mound has not been decided. There will be Johnnie Gillespie, Cliff Mattox, Bill Compagna and Lefty Brendely to choose from.

The San Pablans have signed Ed Wetzler, former El Cerrito player who performed with Valje in the state league. He has been signed to play in the outer gardens.

The game tomorrow should be a hot one.

Athletes Make Good Students

SANTA ROSA, Nov. 2.—(U.P.) Athletes make good students, according to Robert Johnson, assistant to the graduate manager of the University of California in a recent luncheon club talk here.

Johnson upheld his statement with the statistics that more than 60 percent of the athletes at the University of California are graduates as compared with 37 percent of the non-athletes who successfully complete their college career.

STUDEBAKER CO NAMES NEW OFFICIALS

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 2.—L. L. Lalumier, comptroller of Armour and company, Chicago, was elected Treasurer of the Studebaker corporation at a meeting of the board of directors. He succeeds J. L. Overlock, who is promoted to the position of assistant to the president. H. E. Dalton, general auditor, was elected secretary of the corporation which position he will fill in addition to that of auditor. K. B. Elliott, formerly a practicing certified public accountant, was elected assistant treasurer.

Lalumier comes to Studebaker after 10 years with Armour and company during which period he served as assistant comptroller, assistant treasurer and comptroller in charge of all accounting, disbursement of corporation funds, and manager of its numerous offices.

It was stated that the appointment of Overlock as assistant to the president was necessary as a result of President Erskine's recent election a chairman and chief executive officer of the Pierce Arrow Motor Car company. Both Erskine and Overlock will be required to devote considerable of their time to Pierce Arrow business.

The new Studebaker secretary, Dalton, has served as general auditor of Studebaker for many years. He succeeds A. G. Rumpel, who was recently elected president of the Motor Dealers Credit corporation, which is engaged exclusively in the business of financing receivables for Studebaker dealers in the United States and abroad.

'DON QUIXOTE' PRESENTED AT SCHOOL

Inclement weather failed to dampen the spirits of an enthusiastic audience which last night attended the presentation of "Don Quixote" by the Roosevelt Junior high school. Directed by Miss Christine Walther, the youthful actors gave an excellent interpretation of the play adapted by Anne Stoddard from the book by Cervantes.

It was the first semi-annual show of the school and was largely attended by an appreciative audience which seemed to enjoy the presentation given by the pupils. Albert Schultz, as Sancho Panza, servant to Don Quixote won the heart of his audience early in the play and held their interest throughout the presentation. Don Quixote a gentleman of La Mancha was portrayed by Darrow Sutton, who was second only to the parts of the servant in producing laughs.

To select any of the actors and declare that they starred in the production however, would be an injustice to those who played the other roles for all were presented in a capable and masterful manner.

Lighting effects, realistic windmills and scenery which set off the players to good advantage aided in a first class production.

Practically everyone is familiar with the eccentric Don Quixote, whose antics bring a ripple of laughter from old as well as young. The mad adventures of this self-dubbed knight who was born about two centuries too late for his ideas made an excellent vehicle for the young actors.

Others in the cast included: Nicolois, a barber, Jack Bartlett; Dr. Perez, the Curate of La Mancha, Walter Bradbury; Marie, Housekeeper for Don Quixote, Lucille Costa; A Shepherd, Milton Crabbs; Sheep—Zora Alexich, Vernetta Clabattari, Olga Mohamed; Dulcinea, a Peasant Girl, Rosanina; Don Quixote's Horse, The Duke of Barataria, himself; The Duchess of Barataria, Clyde Barhart; Inkeeper, Ernest Miller; Officer, Frank Sharpe; Peter, a Puppet Showman, Milton Crabbs; Villagers—Betty Brown, Lucille Cummeaky, Avonne Hastings, Evelyn Hebrard, Ruth Lewis, Gladys Metz, Marguerite Russell, Berna Spagnoli, Elizabeth Taylor, Marjorie Woods, Marjorie Whittney.

Musical numbers by the orchestra directed by Mrs. Dorothy Padock before the opening curtain and during the changes between the seven acts were presented.

Key Cigar Store, Restaurant, To Open New Store

The Key Cigar and Billiard parlor will open for business in its new home adjoining the Key System barns this morning. George Thompson, owner of the store, has installed the latest fixtures in his new place of business.

In addition to the cigar store and soad fountain, fully equipped, he will maintain a billiard parlor in the rear of the store. A snooker and a pool table have been installed.

The new location is a brick building with plenty of window space. The interior walls are finished in a stoff effect, cream colored. Modern lighting fixtures have been installed to insure ample light for the billiard tables and interior of the store.

Thompson is well known in Richmond, having been located in business next to the Key barns for a number of years. The frame building which housed his cigar store and a lunch room was recently moved to an adjoining lot to permit the building of the new structure.

SAFETY PLANE COMPANY FORMED

Articles of incorporation for the Capellis Safety Airplane corporation will be filed in Sacramento within a short time. S. H. Capellis El Cerrito airplane inventory announced yesterday.

A five year lease on a building on San Pablo avenue has been taken by the board of directors. The new corporation will have a capitalization of $100,000.

Directors for the new concern includes:

S. H. Capellis, president; Charles W. Zimmerman, vice president; Louis Strard, secretary; Thomas Phillips, treasurer; J. W. Prater, Angelo Eleuther, George Zane, Alexander Chrenes, Harry Schroeder.

Construction of one of Capellis' latest models will be started as soon as the papers are filed, it was announced.

Capellis' invention is expected to revolutionize the air-craft industry. His smallest plane will seat four passengers in comfort and will carry three motors. Two will be used for propelling the plane and the third will be used to raise the machine on a vertical plane into the air.

Should his small plane be successful, a 100 passenger machine will be constructed. This machine may be used for flights above water. The fuselage will be constructed like a boat and if the plane is forced down, it may float indefinitely. A screw propeller placed under the fuselage will drive it through the water.

A model plane has passed wind tunnel tests, Capellis stated yesterday.
